TRAVEL OUTSIDE THE OBVIOUS

Page8, London

When visiting an iconic city, you deserve an equally iconic hotel. Page8 crept quietly onto London's hospitality scene when it opened in December 2019, just as the world was closing down due to COVID-19, but as tourism recovers to pre-pandemic levels, it finally has its chance to shine!

The first thing you need to know is that Page8 has an unbeatable location on Trafalgar Square. Look out from the roof terrace or your bedroom window and you might see the National Portrait Gallery, Nelson's Column, or even the London Eye across the rooftops of Covent Garden. The National Gallery, Soho, and the West End theaters are all just a few moments' walk away, so you really are in the heart of the action.

The unofficial motto at Page8 is "Surrender yourself to comfort," which is certainly applicable to the 138 sensitively designed guest rooms. The level of soundproofing is remarkable; even the street view rooms are havens of calm and tranquility. Opt for a 240 sq ft deluxe double room with a queen size bed, white marble bathroom, and stylist deep blue and gold decor. Technologies like the Blueair air purifier and Marshall speakers are considerate, well-designed, and unobtrusive, and it's obvious a lot of thought has gone into choosing the Appelles bathroom amenities and mini bar selection, too.

To make the most of its location, Page8 has paired up with The Traveling Tour Guide in London. Guests can book guided walking tours around the capital. These thematic itineraries are a fantastic way to learn about the city's history, culture, and to hear fascinating stories of the eclectic characters who have lived here.
